

The Male G-Spot

The male G-Spot refers to the prostate gland which is situated on the front wall of the anal canal (the same side of your belly button). This walnut shaped gland is responsible for the creating of a man's erections, orgasms and ejaculations.

Toys have been used for centuries by many different cultures to help with prostate congestion, sexual dysfunction and for sexual pleasure.

Stimulation of the prostate gland results in the milking of the prostate and increasing blood flow to the region which provides vital fresh oxygen and nutrients. As a result stimulation of the prostate can lead to multiple orgasms for men but more importantly prostate stimulation can help prevent prostate cancer.

The male G-Spot experience opens previously unknown doors of sexual pleasure where men experience far more intense orgasms that involve the whole body. This can happen without ejaculation and without touching the penis.

If the penis is involved, the orgasms are still very strong and also last longer than an ordinary penile orgasm. The pleasure is of a quality not often – if at all – felt by most men.

The sensations are unique for every man, and learning to use a prostate massage effectively is a key to part of the journey to intense sexual pleasure. The most modern prostate massagers are designed to stimulate the prostate gland, anal canal and perineum all at the same time. See the latest range of toys. Getting used to prostate massage can take time, it can take effort, but it's worth it.

If you are interested read the article 7 Step Guide to Prostate Massage.